Dom Pérignon Brut - 2009		210
Louis Roederer Cristal Brut - 2009		255

Founded in 1811, Perrier-Jouët have delighted the world over with their champagne. Favoured by Princess Grace of Monaco and a key beverage at the Rose Ball for many years.

With their characteristic Japanese Anemone flowers painted onto the vintage Belle Époque earned it's rightful place by being light, crisp and refreshing.

The Grand Brut:

Finely crafted with floral notes including Elderflower, Honeysuckle and lime flowers, following through with flavours of nectarines, grapefruit and green apples.

The Belle Époque:

On the nose, gentle notes of Hawthorne and plum blossoms. A long lasting finish with hints of peaches, Seville oranges and sweet lemon zest.

EDINBURGH

Established in 2008 by Jon Cooper, Pekoe Tea has gone from a small market stall and online order business to where they are today, importing teas directly from around the world and creating their own blends in-house. The centrepiece is their tea shop on Leven Street in Edinburgh, where their customers can taste some of the finest teas available in the world.

Their focus is to bring the best teas available to their base in Scotland and to share their discoveries and expertise. To do this, they have built personal relationships with growers and producers around the world and trade directly with them. This way, not only do they get access to some of the finest teas available, but they also have the inside story on how they are produced as well as the history of why and how the methods came to be. Building these personal relationships is key, but they are also accredited by the Ethical Tea Partnership.

HERBAL TEA

Peppermint – USA

Peppermint tea is a naturally caffeine free infusion made from the leaves of the peppermint plant (Mentha piperata). Our peppermint is cut leaf and makes a very refreshing brew.

Chamomile – Egypt

Chamomile flowers (Chamomilla recutita) were used thousands of years ago in ancient Egypt, where they were honoured for their great curative properties. They were first used in Europe about 1600, to help with insomnia, back pain, rheumatism, neuralgia and nervousness. Used as a tea, chamomile is known to relax smooth muscle tissue. The tea is often used to promote relaxation and alleviate stress.

Rooibos - South Africa

Our Rooibos tea is made from finely chopped, fermented leaves, dried in the sun. During the process its colour changes from green to a deep red/brown mahogany. The dry leaves have an appetizing honey aroma.

Lemongrass and Ginger – Edinburgh, Scotland

Blended by hand in our Edinburgh premises, our Lemongrass and Ginger creates a refreshing drink that is warming, soothing and especially ideal for the winter months. Used in traditional medicines and cuisines for centuries, lemongrass and ginger carry strong natural flavours.

Cloud Catcher – Edinburgh, Scotland

A colourful fruit infusion designed to brighten up those grey days. Pieces of cherry, cranberry and kiwi combined with coconut flakes invoke the feeling of a tropical island.

GREEN TEA

Jade Tips – Xin Yang, Henan Province, China

A green tea with a fresh, elegant flavour. The name, Mao Jian, means literally 'Hair Point' in reference to the long, fine shape of the leaves. Our Xin Yang Mao Jian is a high quality example of this outstanding tea, considered to be one of the top 10 'great Chinese teas.'

Scottish Summer Fruits – Edinburgh, Mixed Origin

Sencha green tea blended with plants found naturally growing around Scotland with rose blossoms and dried strawberry pieces, mallow and sunflower petals.

Kukicha – Japan

The stalks of Sencha tea leaves. Kukicha infuses lighter in the cup than regular Sencha and is an easy tea for first time tea drinkers. It is a very refreshing tea and is a great drink to reenergize. The stalks contain a lot of amino acids which accounts for the sweet flavour.

Jasmine Dragon Pearl – Fujian Province, China

A premium grade Chinese green tea made from the same tender young buds and leaves as Dragon Eye, this hand-rolled green tea is naturally scented with jasmine blossoms over several nights. The result is an exquisitely light and sweet green tea.

Dong Ding Oolong – Fujian Province, China

The name of this green oolong refers to Dong Ding (Frozen Summit) mountain - the first place oolong was planted in Taiwan. Our Dong Ding has made a round trip, however, as it is now hand-crafted by a Taiwanese tea master in its original home, Fujian. It is Floral with light buttery notes.

BLACK TEA

Chai Black – India

A classic blend of Ceylon with an assortment of traditional chai spices to give a warming and intense yet smooth flavour. Try with milk to balance the spiciness and add sugar to taste.

Blue Lady Tea – Blended tea, Mixed Origin

A black tea – similar in style to Earl Grey - blended with petals of mallow and marigold flowers and flavoured with grapefruit. The citrus flavours support the richness of the premium China black tea leaves

Orange Blossom Oolong – Blended tea, Mixed Origin

This loose leaf Oolong tea is combined with orange peel and natural flavours, giving it a light, airy character with delicate orange flavour. The aroma will leave others wondering what's in your cup, so make enough to share.

Rose Black Tea – Anhui Province, China

Black tea blended with fresh rose petals using a traditional scenting process. The result is not only a refreshing drink but is visually pleasing because of the vibrant pink petals mixed with the dark coloured tea.

WHITE TEA

Moonlight White – Yunnan Province, China

It is very similar in appearance to Silver Needle white tea from Fujian Province, which is made purely from early harvested leaf buds; however, Moonlight White comes from a different variety of the tea plant and is often classed as a white Pu Erh. The name is said to come from the process of withering the leaves at night, 'under the moon' as opposed to under the sun.

BLACK TEA

Duchess Grey – Mixed Origin, China

A classic Earl Grey tea with a touch of Royal flair. The natural scent of bergamot essence coupled with a subtle hint of orange, enlivened with the freshness of lemon verbena (Aloysia citrodora). Calendula petals and orange peel add a perfect decorative finish. Not suitable during pregnancy.

Darjeeling – Gopaldhara Estate, India

This is a broken leaf tea from one of the prime estates in the Darjeeling district. With an average elevation of 6,500ft, this is an excellent estate that provides many fine teas. This second flush example is full bodied, fragrant and of medium strength.

Assam – Mokalbari, India

A high quality broken leaf Assam tea with a malty, full-bodied flavour and a floral aftertaste. It is harvested during the second flush on the famous Mokalbari East tea estate.

Ceylon Orange – Kenilworth Estate, Nuwara Eliya, Sri Lanka

A beautiful handmade tea from the Kenilworth Estate is available in very limited supplies and is produced on a field by field basis. This full leaf orange Ceylon produces a copper gold liquor with interesting menthol notes and a dried fruit aftertaste that is characteristic of teas from Sri Lanka's Nuwara Eliya region.

Peacock Alley Blend – Inspired by the history of the Caledonian railway station we have created a special blend. Based on Ceylon tea, we have added a single malt Scottish whisky selected to pair well. A small amount of a Lapsang Souchong and roasted oolong recalls the heyday of the railway.

THE HISTORY OF AFTERNOON TEA

Tea consumption increased dramatically during the early nineteenth century and it is around this time that Anna, the 7th Duchess of Bedford, is said to have complained of “having that sinking feeling” during the late afternoon. At the time, it was usual for people to take only two meals a day, breakfast and then dinner around eight o'clock in the evening. The solution for the Duchess was a pot of tea and a light snack, taken in her private rooms during the afternoon. Later, friends were invited to join her in her rooms at Woburn Abbey and this summer practice proved so popular that the Duchess continued it when she returned to London, sending cards to her friends asking them to join her for “tea and a walk in the fields.” Other social hostesses quickly picked up on the idea and the practice became respectable enough to move it into the drawing room. Before long, all of the fashionable society were sipping tea and nibbling sandwiches in the middle of the afternoon.
